TOMÁS BECERRA

Narrative & Systems Designer

ROME, ITALY · TOMAS22BECERRA@GMAIL.COM

THE PITCH

I like to write stories about strange worlds and the people in them. That work lives somewhere between narrative design, philosophy, and honest absurdism. I've built fictional universes for immersive art experiences, turned modern slavery data into compelling journalism, and drafted court rulings — which, it turns out, is also a form of fiction. I'm particularly interested in narrative design for games. Not long ago, I decided to take that interest and turn it into a game. One that you can actually play. That is the main quest in my journey today.

CORE SKILLS

- Creative writing
- Worldbuilding
- Narrative design
- Character development
- Immersive storytelling
- Scientific writing
- Institutional writing
- Research & synthesis
- Tone & voice adaptation

LANGUAGES

| | |
|---|---|
| Spanish | Native |
| English | C1 |
| Italian | B1 |
| German | A2 |

EDUCATION

International Relations & Political Science
National University of Córdoba

OUTSIDE WORK

Opera singer.

Very ambitious musical dreams.

Ice cream enthusiast.

Two cats. They don't care.

EXPERIENCE

Creative Director & Narrative Designer — 2026 — PRESENT

Kingdom of None — Independent project

- Designing and writing a turn-based roguelite RPG with card combat.

Narrative Experience Creator — 2022 — 2025

IKONO Experience

- Designed and wrote narrative content for immersive rooms in an interactive art gallery.
- Created short narrative arcs to guide visitors through each environment.
- Translated visual and emotional concepts into accessible, engaging storytelling.

Scientific & Editorial Writer — 2019 — 2021

Development International (NGO, Germany)

- Wrote research papers and communication material about modern slavery.
- Transformed dense data into compelling narratives for awareness campaigns.
- Collaborated with international teams across multicultural environments.

Judicial Writer — 2013 — 2019

Civil & Commercial Court No. 2, Córdoba

- Drafted civil and commercial legal documents including rulings and decrees.
- Developed a finely tuned sense of structure, syntax, and formal precision.
- Learned that legal writing is, in many ways, an exercise in dark fiction.